

Nancy Levine — Bio

Nancy attended the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University where she majored in acting. She toured nationally as the Wicked Witch in the Wizard of Oz and as the Nurse in Romeo and Juliet. She also toured nationally in the scandalous, "Oh! Calcutta!" Off-Broadway credits include: Mrs. Crow in "A Sinful Life" at Primary Stages; Joan Collins in "Dressing Room Divas" at The Duplex, the Mother/Narrator in "Peter and the Wolf" at The Danny Kaye Playhouse, Bette Davis in "Hollywood Exposed" at Don't Tell Mama's, among others. Her television claim to fame was as the Hair Salon Lady in a Martha Stewart Commercial (before Martha's jail time) for the Food Network.

Some regional credits include playing Margie in "Tale The of the Allergist's Wife", "The Fourth Wall", "Parallel Lives", among others.

Nancy is also a recovering stand up comedian. She was the 1st Place Winner of the U.S. Comedy Contest in 2024. She also produced the Ladies Room Comedy Festival for five years in NYC. In addition, she produced "Housewives of Secaucus" which was done in drag, in 2021 at the Actors Temple Theater in NYC.